
How do clients see the front end?

Posted by admin - 2008/06/05 05:47

We support several front end reservation system platforms. You can use Joomla Content Management System (CMS) and use a set of modules and components to connect to BugHotel Reservation System Application Server.

We also provide an API Kit called XML Clients that can be embed into existing HTML Pages.

We also provide a full set of templates (Built In) that do not require anything else and are already set for hotel business to consumer pages.

Re:How do clients see the front end?

Posted by shef - 2008/07/17 17:24

Where to download the standalone front?

Re:How do clients see the front end?

Posted by admin - 2008/07/18 04:06

I am going to email you the standalone front with some demos for the standalone front, further make sure you also install the hotelier (back end) interface because that is also needed. Understand?

Thanks
Paulo

Re:How do clients see the front end?

Posted by shef - 2008/07/18 19:07

I 've done it already . I mean I've installed hotelier . Trying Joomla by the way

Re:How do clients see the front end?

Posted by admin - 2008/07/19 06:43

Ok. I am uploading a demo for you to see how it looks.
